Fitch Affirms European Investment Fund at 'AAA'; Outlook Stable

Fitch Ratings - Paris - 18 May 2022: Fitch Ratings has affirmed European Investment Fund's (EIF) Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) at 'AAA' with a Stable Outlook and Short-Term IDR at 'F1+'.

Key Rating Drivers

Rating Reflects Strong Support: The affirmation and Stable Outlook reflect the strong extraordinary support Fitch believes the fund would receive from its shareholders, including the European Investment Bank (EIB; AAA/Stable; 59% of subscribed capital as of end-2021), and the European Union (EU; AAA/Stable; 30%) as well as 38 large financial institutions based in EU, the UK and Turkey.

Fitch assesses EIF's shareholders' capacity to support at 'aaa', in line with the rating of its key shareholder, the EIB. The 'strong' propensity of shareholders to support translates into a zero-notch adjustment to the support capacity, and reflects EIF's strategic importance for its shareholders. EIF has played a key role in leveraging funds for SMEs in the EU, through its participation in the European Fund for Strategic Investments (EFSI), European Guarantee Fund (Covid-19 policy response initiative) and expected involvement in the long-term InvestEU programme.

Exceptionally Strong Capitalisation: Fitch assesses EIF's Standalone Credit Profile (SCP) at 'aa-', based on its Insurance Rating Criteria. Our assessment primarily reflects 'exceptionally strong' capitalisation and 'very strong' business profile. The fund's net par-to-capital ratio broadly remained stable at 1.1x in 2021 (2020: 1.0x), as the significant increase in guarantee exposure-at-risk was offset by a large EUR2.8 billion capital increase (including EUR2.2 billion callable capital) and EUR661 million share premium increase. Fitch expects EIF's net par-to-capital to remain stable, in line with the 'AAA' rating category.

Medium-risk Guarantee Portfolio: Although EIF's guarantees are predominantly related to SMEs, credit quality is materially improved through credit enhancement (first loss tranche held by the EU). Therefore, the majority of guarantee exposure is investment grade, mainly in the low 'A' and 'BBB' categories, based on EIF's internal risk assessment. Non-investment grade exposure is small.

Private Equity Drives Asset Risk: The risky-assets ratio (2021:44%) is driven by EUR1.5 billion in private equity assets and EUR197 million in non-investment grade asset-backed securities. The largest share of the private equity portfolio is layered and EIF holds only senior tranches, which reduces the risk of potential losses to EIF, as junior tranches held by the EU absorb first losses. The rest of the investment portfolio primarily consists of investment grade sovereign and corporate bonds with an average 'A+' rating. The Ukraine-Russia conflict has so far had no effect on the bond portfolio.
Very Strong Liquidity: EIF's liquidity profile is 'very strong', reflecting the very low level of liquidity needs. The fund has no debt and limited cash requirement for meeting guarantee calls on own-risk exposures. At end-2021, the fund's liquid assets surged to EUR2.6 billion from EUR1.4 billion at end-2020. This was driven by the receipt of EUR1.22 billion cash from the capital increase. The fund's liquidity position is also enhanced by an EUR250 million standby repo facility provided by EIB.

Very Strong Business Profile: EIF acts as an implementing vehicle of EU policies, with a mandate to provide debt, equity and guarantee products to SMEs, and to act as an intermediary for realising the development and cohesion initiatives of the EU through special mandates. As such, business profile characteristics are expected to be stable and not influenced by prevailing market conditions and the competitive landscape.

Strong but Volatile Profitability: Fitch has revised its assessment of EIF's financial performance and earnings to 'a-' from 'bbb-' previously, owing to strong and resilient financial performance. We primarily consider EIF's financial performance from a viability perspective and this has an overall low importance to the rating. Unlike other profit-oriented institutions, EIF does not have a target for return-on-equity (ROE), which has been volatile (2021: 19%; 5-year average: 9.3%) due to fair value changes on private equity investments. Fitch expects run-rate ROE (ROE excluding fair value changes on assets) to stabilise at 4%-5% range over the forecast period, due to expected strong underwriting, a low level of incurred credit losses and guarantee calls.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to positive rating action/upgrade:

- The ratings are at the highest level on Fitch's scale and cannot be upgraded

Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to negative rating action/downgrade:

- Adverse change in our assessment of EIF's key shareholders' capacity or propensity to provide support to the EIF.

- Downward revision of EIF's SCP, which could result from weakening in capitalisation and/or pressures on liquidity and investment risks. A downward revision of the SCP below 'aa-' would result in negative rating action as the uplift above the SCP for extraordinary support is already at the maximum of three notches permitted under our criteria.

Best/Worst Case Rating Scenario

International scale credit ratings of Sovereigns, Public Finance and Infrastructure issuers have a best-case rating upgrade scenario (defined as the 99th percentile of rating transitions, measured in a positive direction) of three notches over a three-year rating horizon; and a worst-case rating downgrade scenario (defined as the 99th percentile of rating transitions, measured in a negative direction) of three notches over three years. The complete span of best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings for all rating categories ranges from 'AAA' to 'D'. Best- and worst-case scenario credit ratings are based on historical performance. In issuing and maintaining its ratings and in making other reports (including forecast information), Fitch relies on factual information it receives from issuers and underwriters and from other sources Fitch believes to be credible. Fitch conducts a reasonable investigation of the factual information relied upon by it in accordance with its ratings methodology, and obtains reasonable verification of that information from independent sources, to the extent such sources are available for a given security or in a given jurisdiction. The manner of Fitch’s factual investigation and the scope of the third-party verification it obtains will vary depending on the nature of the rated security and its issuer, the requirements and practices in the jurisdiction in which the rated security is offered and sold and/or the issuer is located, the availability and nature of relevant public information, access to the management of the issuer and its advisers, the availability of pre-existing third-party verifications such as audit reports, agreed-upon procedures letters, appraisals, actuarial reports, engineering reports, legal opinions and other reports provided by third parties, the availability of independent and competent third-party verification sources with respect to the particular security or in the particular jurisdiction of the issuer, and a variety of other factors. Users of Fitch’s ratings and reports should understand that neither an enhanced factual investigation nor any third-party verification can ensure that all of the information Fitch relies on in connection with a rating or a report will be accurate and complete. Ultimately, the issuer and its advisers are responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide to Fitch and to the market in offering documents and other reports. In issuing its ratings and its reports, Fitch must rely on the work of experts, including independent auditors with respect to financial statements and attorneys with respect to legal and tax matters. Further, ratings and forecasts of financial and other information are inherently forward-looking and embody assumptions and predictions about future events that by their nature cannot be verified as facts. As a result, despite any verification of current facts, ratings and forecasts can be affected by future events or conditions that were not anticipated at the time a rating or forecast was issued or affirmed.

Fitch receives fees from issuers, insurers, guarantors, other obligors, and underwriters for rating securities. Such fees generally vary from US$1,000 to US$750,000 (or the applicable currency equivalent) per issue. In certain cases, Fitch will rate all or a number of issues issued by a particular issuer, or insured or guaranteed by a particular insurer or guarantor, for a single annual fee. Such fees are expected to vary from US$10,000 to US$1,500,000 (or the applicable currency equivalent).
